Surrendering to the guidance of the Universe can become the most direct journey to the high risk/high reward life of greatness which awaits each of us.

A mystical pilgrimage to Greece in 1998 became the divinely created metaphor for author and speaker Kay Gilley to live the message she was about to write in her third and fourth books. Sharing a range of experiences that unfolded as she was guided throughout the country, she explains how surrendering to the guidance of the Universe can become the most direct journey to our soul's intentions. Engaging in moment-by-moment communication with the Universe, magic happened time and again. When we live in continuous communion, she will explain, our lives become a prayer and we open the door to the high risk/high reward life of greatness which awaits each of us.

Drawing on material from all three of her books—Leading from the Heart, The Alchemy of Fear, and The Game Called Life, Kay's stories are spellbinding and inspirational, as she invites listeners to find the courage to do what they know in their hearts they are called to do, even if...maybe even, especially if...it makes no sense at all.

Kay Gilley has been described as "the world's leading thinker on intention." She is CEO and senior consultant of You Know In Your Heart - Consulting & Press, a firm dedicated to guiding executives, entrepreneurs and professionals as they discover peace, passion and purpose in work and in life. Tonight she promises to expand our awareness of why and how we create in partnership with the forces of the Universe.

Walk the Labyrinth at Early Meditation

You are invited to walk a Labyrinth at SFF's early meditation on November 7. Labyrinths are ancient archetypes found in almost all cultures around the world. Walking the Labyrinth can be a profound spiritual activity and can help one find spiritual healing, discover deeper self-knowledge and release a flow of creativity in one's life. The experience of walking a Labyrinth is a metaphor for life's journey. You may walk our Labyrinth any time between 6:30 and 7:00 p.m. in the Vaughn wing of CUCC.

Teresa LaVoy, who will create the Labyrinth and also lead the brief meditation before the speaker, has been a student of the mystical and metaphysical for many years. In 1997, she walked labyrinths in France, Germany and Switzerland. She builds and works with labyrinths for the healing of ourselves and of Mother Earth. Teresa's goal is to have a Labyrinth outside every legislative building and at every school in North Carolina. Her website: www.LabyrinthsinNC.com contains a list of Labyrinths in North Carolina available for walking.
