Developing Your Personal Intuitive Power
Using the Tarot

The tarot is a unique combination of centuries of esoteric lore, wisdom, and understanding of the human condition conveniently packaged into a system of art and symbols. With a minimum of training, we can use it to speak directly to our subtle awareness and gain direct access to extraordinary knowledge that anyone can immediately understand and use.

Beth Owl's Daughter believes it is time for us to take a new look at this very old tool that, she is convinced, holds fantastic potential for those of us who are willing to learn how to use it.

Let's face it: Earth changes are profoundly affecting our physical, emotional, and spiritual well-being; political discourse has become increasingly angry and irrational; and socio-economic pressures continue to push families to and beyond the breaking point. Few would argue that we are living in pivotal times, and we can use all the help we can get to navigate these stormy waters. How can we thrive in such times rather than just survive? Beth says the tarot can help.

Unlike other arts and practices that require years of complex training and sophisticated equipment, the tarot offers quick, reliable access to our own power. Unlike practices in which the seeker is a passive recipient of guidance or wisdom from someone with special training or power—dependent upon someone else's mastery and expertise—the tarot enables us to see for ourselves.

In her talk on June 3, Beth will show us how to begin to use the tarot for ourselves. As with the game of chess, the basics are not difficult; and the more you practice, the deeper you go, the more you will be rewarded for your efforts—and the more you will always be learning, as well.

For nearly four decades, Beth Owl's Daughter has been a seer and guide in the non-ordinary realms. She is a full-time intuitive and an ordained inter-denominational minister; her passion is working with the beautiful, mysterious tarot. She specializes in helping leaders, innovators, and visionaries thrive while integrating career, creativity, and spirituality. She lives in northern Durham County and is available for private readings in person or worldwide by phone. She offers small group intensives, and a variety of classes, workshops, and seminars.

Beth is a member of the American Tarot Association and the Tarot Association of the British Isles; is an internationally recognized author and leader in the tarot community, with many published articles, reviews, and columns about the tarot; served as ethics columnist for the debut issue of the former Tarot World Magazine; has been featured in many radio interviews and podcasts; and is founder and organizer of one of the world's oldest and largest tarot (Meetup) social groups, www.Meetup.com/TriangleTarot. She's on the Board of Directors of Cherry Hill Seminary, the world's first and only graduate-level educational institution for pagan ministry. She practices in the Reclaiming and Faerie traditions of the Craft and writes regularly about magical, seasonal lore, as well as the tarot, on her blog, <http://www.owlsdaughter.com/owls-wings>. By the end of this evening with Beth, you will have a foundation for accessing your own intuition in a reliable, trustworthy manner, using the intuitive tool of the tarot. After that, a lifetime of tarot adventure, discovery, and mastery will be up to you!
