2014 and Beyond: An Astrological Look at the Political, Social, and Personal Climate

Using several different astrological charts for the United States, Darrell Steen will describe how astrology looks at the future and how the U.S. charts dovetail with individuals charts to form personal and social interpretations of the year ahead.

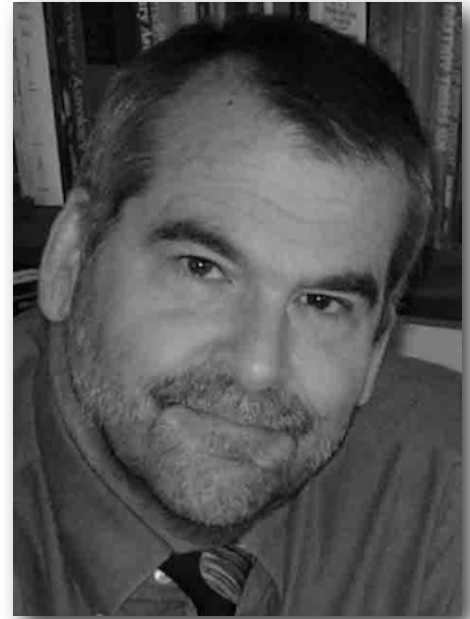

The cycle of Uranus square Pluto began in the mid-1960s, and now we are able to look at how we as a society have dealt with what was born then—a new paradigm for individuality and social-political power. Beginning in 2011 and continuing into 2015, this square affects everyone. In this talk, Darrell will explain what it means in worldly, political, and social terms as well as in personal, psychological, and spiritual terms.

He'll also consider the future of astrology resulting from the growth of our solar system over the past 20 years—to include the Kuiper belt (or trans-Neptunian) objects, centaurs, and scattered disk objects. Much as the discoveries of Uranus, Neptune, Pluto, and Chiron affected us in the past, these newest additions herald a new dimension in the way charts will be interpreted from now on. This new model of the solar system, and its accompanying new era of astrology, provides a new model of the psychological and spiritual framework for all of mankind.

Darrell describes himself as having a practical and down-to-earth philosophy, and his readings as taking a psychological approach that helps clients see the basic motivating forces in their lives. He had his first horoscope reading when he was 16 years old—reluctantly, at the prodding of a friend—and he was so impressed by the astrologer's accuracy that he began studying right away. He is fascinated by the perspective that astrology offers, better than anything he found in psychology, religion, or philosophy. He has practiced professionally, full time, for over 35 years and serves an international clientele. Since 1982, he has been accredited through the American Federation of Astrologers. In Kansas and elsewhere, Darrell was a frequent guest on numerous radio shows, and then had his own weekly radio show for two years in Wichita. His 2012 talk on astrocartography for SFF was a big hit, and he has been a popular participant at our annual Psychic & Healing Fairs.

During the presentation, Darrell will select a few audience members' charts and describe their potential futures. If you're interested in participating, visit our website for instructions.

Certificates for private sessions with Darrell (with appointments to be scheduled through him later) will be available for sale at the talk, with a portion of the proceeds going to benefit SFF.
